

Devops tools

What is Devops tools?

It is a range of tools that help and facilitate various aspects of the software development and delivery lifecycle and monitoring and testing.

There are some DevOps tools in different categories:

-
- Git: Distributed version control system for tracking changes in source code.
 - Docker: Platform for developing and running applications in containers.
 - Ansible: Automation tool for configuration management and application deployment.
 - Slack: Collaboration tool for team communication.
 - Google Cloud Platform (GCP): Cloud services platform for building, testing, and deploying applications.
 - Puppet: Configuration management tool for automating server provisioning and management.
 - Travis CI: Cloud-based CI service that integrates with GitHub repositories.

There are many tools but this tool is popular and famous.